The Verona Public Library would like to invite the public to a very exciting program on February 18, 2014. The North Jersey Astronomical Group will be presenting with retired Montclair State University professor, Mary Lou West, and Laura Kelm whom we have to thank for this program.

There will be a 30-40 minute power point presentation in the Jack Foley room, located in the basement of the Verona Public Library, followed by a hands-on telescope observation! This will be a family friendly event geared toward young adults, but all are welcome to join us! The event begins 6:30 pm and will commence outside our library grounds at around 8:30 pm.
